Paul McCartney makes surprise appearance

Sir Paul McCartney delighted an intimate gathering of students, faculty, and staff fortunate enough to have their names drawn in a lottery for his surprise appearance in the Knowles Memorial Chapel on October 23. After an enchanting hour-long dialogue with Billy Collins (see below), McCartney further mesmerized everyone present with his solo acoustical guitar performance of "Blackbird." More

Presidential Search

*Message to the Rollins Campus Community
from Allan E. Keen '70 '71MBA '10H, Trustee
Presidential Search Committee Chair
November 4, 2014*

"On behalf of the Presidential Search Committee, I want to inform the College community that the search process is moving along well. We have received a tremendous response to our request for nominations and applications for the Rollins presidency. I also am very pleased to report that the quality of potential candidates is extremely impressive, and our search consultant has stated that we have received one of the strongest pools of candidates at this early stage of the process that she has seen at any college in recent memory.

"The committee members are excited about the quality of the candidate pool at this point, plus we still expect to receive materials from a fairly large number of additional prospective candidates before the end of November.

"This is a brief report, but we wanted to share our excitement, and we look forward to our upcoming meetings and continuation of the process."

The Face of Rollins

Billy Collins

Two-term U.S. Poet Laureate Billy Collins became the Rollins Winter Park Institute's inaugural scholar in 2008 and has continued his special relationship with the College ever since. In November, with the Tiedtke Concert Hall filled to near capacity, the Rollins Winter Park Institute Senior Distinguished Fellow shared insights about his own poetry as well as his unique criteria for judging others' works.
